

EXPANSION OF SBS

- Australians living in capital cities have enjoyed SBS-TV for many years but many hundreds of thousands of Australians in regional and remote areas have missed out.
- The Coalition Government will extend SBS-TV coverage to all transmission areas of more than 10,000 people.
- The Coalition Government has already extended SBS-TV to major regional centres, and has made it available on satellite for the most remote viewers. The Coalition will now continue the task of giving Regional Australians what they deserve – access to a new world of news, information and entertainment from across the globe.
- The expansion of SBS-TV to regional Australia is part of the $120 million Television Fund. This fund will be financed from the proceeds of the next 16% sale of Telstra.
- Labor has no alternate policy. They don't care about the bush. They never have.
